Hanson is the character who robbed patrons of the Fillmore postorfice when he was postmaster. And United States District Attorney Booth proexecutioners.

The masty effort of the "Hemorrhage" to make politics out of the arrest and confession of Driskell was the most shameful piece of newspaper nastiness ever witnessed in the entire country. And it is passing strange that no steps have been taken thus far to bring him into court to answer for the life of the faithful police officer.

The "Hemorrhage Kids," who, under the pretense of knowing how to build up a newspaper, robbed their employers of $192,000 and ran the concern into debt for forty odd thousand more, have the supremest gall to carry on the "Red Robin" methods with the hyphenated sheet.

And those who are submitting to such things are writing themselves down as the biggest chumps in newspaperdom.

It is just as impossible to build up a paper through the earrying out of such methods as to turn back the fides with a reef of sand. And those who turn sueak thief, burghar and briber, in an effort to injure a competitor, can bave no more public sympathy than does the man with the dark lantern, jimmy and gum shoc, who forces one's window and burgharizes or debanches one's home.

The "Hemorrhage" will change its course or go out of business, just as public sentiment forced its predecessor.

out of business.

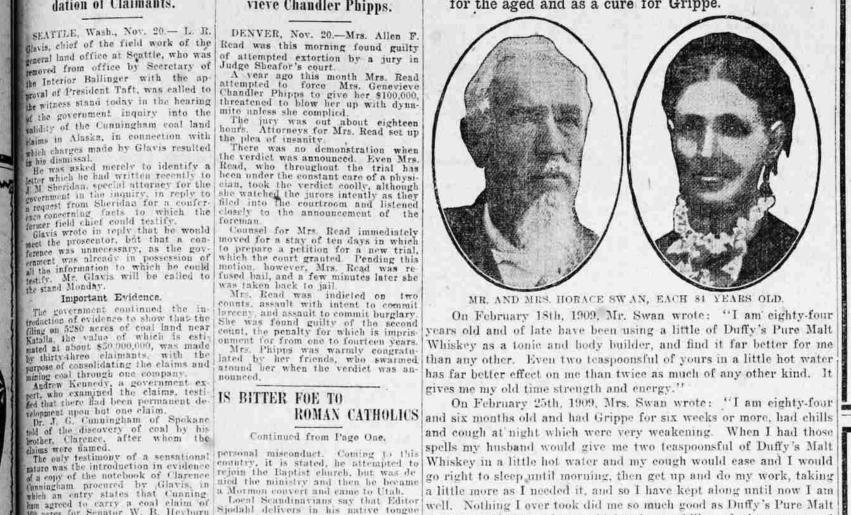

What is the most surprising thing to the average observer of the local situation is that D. C. Jackling appears to be standing for the things which the 'Hemorrhage' has been doing during the past two months.

It is rumored that a great eastern magazine has been investigating the near sugar situation and that a sensa-tion will be spring within a short time that will turn things topsy-turvy Ctah and Idaho.

It was just twenty-four years ago last Tuesday night, says the Washing is now under a availing a hearing in the district court. For a time he was in jail in Fillmore.

It is expected that an indictment will be returned by the federal grand jury and that within the next few days.

Now that I. E. Driskell, the man who confessed that he killed Police Officer Riley a few weeks ago, has been removed to the county jail, there is a report that he claims that he made his confession and signed it while in the state of intoxication.

It is not surprising that, having come under an influence antagonistic to the Salt Lake police department, the cold-blooded murderer of Riley should be persuaded to go back on his confession. But the fact that he made his confession and repeat operations and the results of the confession and repeat operations and the results of the confession and repeat operations and the results of the confession and repeat operations and the was drank or answays approaching it. The fact of the matter is, there is now do not be a strained by the fact of the matter is, there is now much dilly-dallying with such characters as Driskell. He ought long since to have been brought to trial. And if the district attorney were as vigilant as the should be Driskell would now either be in the shire prison serving a life sentence or he would be in the shire of the confession of the confession of the confession of the confession were and the confession of the confession which is not the confession of the confession of the confession which is not the confession of the

Why is it that so few people give the lighting question any consideration? Stop and think! Doesn't it mean just as much to you to save money on your lighting system as as to make a profit on your goods? If you can obtain a better quality of illumination and more candle power at a less cost from a gas are, would it be a disagreeable duty to give the lighting question any thought? And think of the
